ABOUT MURREE-NATHIAGALI

Murree and Nathia Gali, located in Pakistan's Abbottabad District of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, are both popular hill stations. Nathia Gali, charmingly nestled amidst the Galyat range, is approximately 20 km from Abbottabad and 32 km from Murree. Known as the "King of Tourism" in Pakistan, Murree, situated about 65 km from Islamabad, is the largest summer resort in the country, offering a blend of modern amenities and natural beauty. Both destinations boast hilly terrains, verdant meadows, picturesque cottages, and enchanting cherry blossom trees. Nathia Gali, with its higher elevation and cooler temperatures compared to other areas in the Galyat range, is renowned for its breathtaking landscape, hiking trails, and invigorating climate. From May to August, both Nathia Gali and Murree experience cool, pleasant, and misty weather, making them ideal retreats for nature enthusiasts seeking respite from urban life.
